

Creme Egg thief faces jail

A man who stole nearly 200,000 creme eggs from a car park in Telford is expected to go to jail for two years next month.

Joby Pool used a tractor to steal a trailer filled with chocolate eggs. It is thought that the chocolate was worth over £31,000.

West Mercia police joked on social media that an “eggs-travagant theft” had taken place. They also called the thief the “Easter bunny”.

It is thought that the chocolate was not damaged, and the eggs can go straight to shop shelves.
